

In the context of electrostatics:

1. What is the purpose of finding an electric field (what is it good for)?
2. What causes an electric field to exist?
3. How do you calculate its strength and direction?
4. What does electrostatics mean?